

H. B. M. S. Constance sailed yesterday morning for Washington Island.

Another lot of those fine bathing suits for $1.50, at B. F. Ehlers & Co.'s.

A lot of newly-arrived bone meal is offered for sale by Messrs. W. G. Irwin & Co.

On Tuesday last Mr. Stephen L. Desha, a half-caste Hawaiian, left for South Kona, where he will act as a missionary.

An interesting detailed account of the new Morning Star will be found on the second page.

It is stated that the building fund of the Kaupakapili Church was increased last Sunday by the sum of $552.16.

The S. S. Bordeaux, with Portuguese immigrants, is overdue. No doubt the passengers are as anxious to arrive as the planter to receive them.

"I wonder how the ice cream is there?" thoughtfully observed one of our young ladies. "Cold, I guess," was the chilling response, and they continued their walk.

The tax appeal boards will be held on the Island of Hawaii as follows: In Puna Friday, October 3d; Kau, Monday, October 13th; Hilo, Monday and Tuesday, October 20th and 21st.

Mr. A. J. Cartwright has presented a most valuable collection of books to the Honolulu Library. Some of them date back as far as the year 1776, and most of them refer to these islands. Captain Cook's voyage is the oldest of the volumes donated.

We regret to know that Mr. Jos. R. Morrill has resigned from the Custom House through failing health. He goes to the Coast on the 1st of October, and will probably recuperate on the sea voyage. He has worked hard and long, and needs a rest. We trust he may return in good health and spirits before long.

Captain Aridji, of His Imperial Japanese Majesty's ship Tsukuba, paid official calls on shore last Tuesday. After calling on His Excellency the Acting Governor of Oahu, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, he was introduced by that gentleman to His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Hon. W. M. Gibson, by whom he was introduced to their Honors the Judges of the Supreme Court.

By the S. S. Alameda, news was received of the arrival of the S. S. City of Paris at Aden. From thence to London the passage would probably occupy eighteen to twenty days. It is just possible that a telegram announcing her arrival in London may be received by the Mariposa on the 8th proximo. We know a few in this city who will be pleased to learn these particulars.

Mr. Morrell has been obliged by the state of his health to resign the position in the Customs service which he has filled with so much credit to himself, and so much satisfaction to the business men and masters of vessels with whom it has brought him in contact. He leaves for the States by the S. S. Alameda on the 1st of next month. All who know him join in fervent wishes for the restoration of his health.

The investigation of the Commission appointed by the Dominion Government for the purpose of looking into the Chinese question has, it is reported, led members of the Commission to take an unfavorable view of the Chinese immigration. As a result of this, it is understood, that a recommendation will be made that this immigration into Canada be either forbidden or carefully restricted.

Seven of the crew of the wrecked schooner Ehukai, while attempting to get ashore at Waialua, last Wednesday, were capsized on the reef. One of them got under the boat, and, when extricated, was found to be insensible. He was taken ashore, where he soon recovered, but his legs and face were badly injured. He was put on board the schooner, and brought on to Honolulu for medical treatment.

Miss Tregloan, whilst driving into town on Tuesday last, met with rather a serious accident by colliding with another carriage. She was driving at the time along King street, and when near the corner of Alakea street, her horse shied at a dust cart and running into another vehicle, her carriage was capsized. The young lady miraculously escaped uninjured, but the carriage was very much shattered. While sympathizing with Miss Tregloan, we think it injudicious for young ladies to drive about town.

Good work is being done by Captain John H. Brown, Agent of the Board of Health. He is busily engaged with the dust carts, and a gang of prisoners, in clearing out the gutters. This is a branch of scavenging that should be attended to regularly. In this connection, it must be remarked that the gutters are invariably left in an unfinished condition when the roads are re-metalled—that is to say, sharp macadam stones and refuse matter are left in the gutters instead of the work being properly finished.

The steamer James Makee towed off the schooner Ehukai from the surf at Waialua, last Wednesday morning. The steamer Waimanalo towed the Ehukai into port, and she was docked at Emmes' shipping yard to be repaired. The Ehukai came into port with only her foremast. Her mainmast was cut down, and used as rollers from the shore to the sea. Her keel and rudder were off. Mr. Alex. Smith, a half-caste Hawaiian, who hauled her ashore, will be engaged in repairing her.

Making Land.

The work of filling in Aina Hale water front is being pushed forward under the supervision of Captain Brown. In another part of the town, the old fish-pond in front of St. Louis College is being filled up, so that before long the road there will be wide enough for carriages to pass each other.

The Morning After.

"Eliza," said the fine old Honolulu gentleman to his dutiful spouse, as he awakened with an impression that while at Wai-kiki the night before he had inadvertently exchanged heads with an elephant—"Eliza, get me a tumbler, and put into it about a quarter of a pint of whisky and a few drops of bitters and a teaspoonful of water—a teaspoonful, mind you—and I'll see if I can take it. And, Eliza, if I can't, make me!"

Reception at Iolani Palace.

H. W. Schmidt, Esq., was received in audience by the King last Tuesday. Mr. Schmidt, who is Acting Consul for Sweden and Norway, had asked for the audience in order personally to present His Majesty a letter from his sovereign King Oscar. A translation of this letter will be found in the "By authority" column of this issue of the ADVERTISER. It is the customary announcement of the birth of a child, who may himself be some day the King of Sweden and Norway. His Majesty was attended by Major E. W. Purvis. The Minister of Foreign Affairs was present at the close of the audience, having been engaged in paying the usual courtesies to Captain Aridji, who called upon him during the morning.

A Honolulu Mare.

H. J. Agnew's "Maud" has been doing wonders in California. She has won everything in sight so far. Her record, since she went to the Coast is as follows: A contemporary states that she scored two victories—the first one in Oakland on the 4th instant, in the "free for all" class, for a purse of $500, which she won in three straight heats. Time: 2:27½, 2:26½, and 2:31. The second one was at Sacramento on the 11th instant, when she captured a purse of $1000, and earned the reputation of being the best pacing mare on the Pacific Coast. Her time this race was 2:21½, 2:22, and 2:23. All the horsemen awarded her the palm. When it is considered that she was with foal within a year, was subjected to a 2100 miles sea trip, and had only a few weeks' training, her performance was remarkable.

A Gallant Act.

The following appears in the London Globe of Saturday, August 16, under the title of "A Modest Rescuer." It bears the signature of Mr. Manly Hopkins, the Consul-General for this Kingdom in England: "To the Editor of the Globe: Sir,—A young Hawaiian, under my charge for his College education, was lately standing by the water-side at Glasgow, when two men were carrying loads over a plank into a ship. The first man missed his footing and fell into the water, and in his fall dragged down the second. My young friend, tall and powerful, succeeded in catching the hand of the man who first fell, and dragging him on to the wharf. He then rescued the second. Many people saw the transaction, but the Hawaiian immediately lost himself in the crowd, and it was unknown to whom the two lives saved were indebted. He has not alluded to the circumstance to me, and it is only a companion of his own from whom I have elicited this gratifying fact. I shall not be wrong in stating the rescuer's name, which is J. Arthur Kamaooha.—I am, Sir, &c."

Pictures Renovated.

Many of the visitors to our National Museum remember seeing the oil portraits of King Kamehameha III. and his Queen Kalama, laid carelessly away up over the east shelf, dirty, dilapidated, torn, and going to ruin. Those who will now see them will not believe that they are the same. They have been patched, cleaned, re-touched and varnished, and are now thoroughly renovated by our well known artist, Mr. Chas. Hasselman. By his authority, we venture to say "that the man whose work they are knew his business." They were painted by an English artist named Stanley on October 20, 1849. Now, to-day, they are as good as new, and, as soon as they are framed, will be hung up in position, probably in the office of the Minister of Foreign Affairs, or in the Legislative Hall. Those who remember Kamehameha III. and his Queen will recognize them, and be delighted in these thoroughly renovated portraits. Great credit is due to Mr. Hasselman for the satisfaction he has given in the renovation of these pictures, and the Government is fortunate, through His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Affairs, in having them restored and thoroughly preserved.

A Gentle Hint.

"Will you swing in my hammock?" asked she. "Not now, thank you," he said. "Some time when I have my hammock clothes on." "What do you mean?" she asked, innocently. "Why, my striped stockings, to be sure," he wickedly replied. She tumbled out.

ISLAND NOTES.

Hilo, Sept. 18, 1884.

A negro, formerly in the employ of Mr. C. N. Spencer, was arrested last week for horse-stealing.

The new bridge at Wainui, twenty miles from Hilo, has collapsed. The work had only been completed one day. It was the work of the California Bridge Company, under the immediate supervision of Mr. Butler.

The Emma Claudina was to sail for San Francisco on Saturday, the 20th instant.

Madame Cora has been giving a series of performances in the Court House, and has been liberally patronized by all the beauty and fashion of Hilo, helping to dispel the monotony of this dull town.

There have been heavy rains of late, and mud is plentiful. At the hour of writing, the sun is shining brightly, and vegetation seems to be rejoicing in the happy event.

It is reported from Onomea that a shock of earthquake was felt there on the 19th instant. Three men were thrown from the roof of a house which they were shingling, and seriously hurt.

Calendar for the October Term of the Supreme Court.

MR. JUSTICE McCULLY, PRESIDING.

Mr. Austin Whiting, Deputy Attorney-General. Mr. William Foster, Clerk.

HAWAIIAN JURY.—CRIMINAL CASES.

Rex vs Kau; perjury.

Rex vs Keeaumoku; maiming.

HAWAIIAN JURY.—CIVIL CASES.

N. Holi et al vs R. F. Koakanu; covenant. Mr. Kinney for plaintiff.

J. K. Kaunamano vs Nawahine et al; ejectment. Messrs. Holokahiki and Poepeo for plaintiff. Mr. S. B. Dole for defendant.

Puhi et al vs Kaulano et al; ejectment. Mr. W. R. Castle for plaintiffs. Messrs. Holokahiki and Poepeo for defendants.

James Kahui et al vs Lauki et al; ejectment. Mr. W. A. Kinney for plaintiffs. Mr. Poepeo for defendants.

W. C. Achi vs Kawa et al; ejectment. Mr. W. R. Castle for plaintiff.

Mary S. Rose vs Henry Smith; ejectment. Mr. Preston for plaintiff. Mr. Hartwell for defendant.

Tryphena Naku et al vs J. W. Huanli; covenant. Mr. W. R. Castle for plaintiffs.

MIXED JURY.

W. C. Achi vs Nauha et al; ejectment. Mr. W. R. Castle for plaintiff. Messrs. Cecil Brown and J. L. Kaulukou for defendants.

Mokuhia vs Wm. McCandless; assumpsit. Appeal from Intermediary Court. Mr. J. L. Kaulukou for plaintiff. Mr. F. M. Hatch for defendant, respondent.

Akuna vs Lokana; trespass. Messrs. F. M. Hatch and John Russell for plaintiff. The Attorney-General for defendant.

Mele Hololua vs Keoni Kapu; ejectment. Mr. E. Preston for plaintiff. Messrs. W. A. Kinney and F. M. Hatch for defendant.

Kaimiola vs Beni; ejectment. Mr. W. R. Castle for plaintiff. Mr. J. L. Kaulukou for defendant.

Queen Dowager Emma Kaleleonalani et al vs Commissioners of Crown Lands; ejectment. Messrs. Hartwell, Castle, F. M. Hatch for plaintiffs. The Attorney-General for defendants.

Kahai et al vs Annie K. W. Haines et al; ejectment. Mr. S. B. Dole for plaintiff. Mr. W. A. Kinney for defendants.

A. F. Baker vs D. L. Achi; assumpsit. Appeal from the Police Justice of Honolulu. Mr. W. R. Castle for appellant.

Kela et al vs John H. Paty; ejectment. Mr. John Russell for plaintiff. Mr. W. R. Castle for defendant.

FOREIGN JURY.—CRIMINAL CASES.

Rex vs J. B. Grant; aggravated assault. Venue changed from Fourth Circuit Court.

Rex vs Ah Hong; perjury; Mr. W. R. Castle for defendant.

Rex vs Yam Look; larceny 1st degree. Mr. Russell for defendant.

Rex vs Le Quai, assault and battery; appeal from Police Justice, Honolulu. Mr. John Russell for defendant appellant.

Rex vs F. G. Pond, gross cheat.

Rex vs Ah Lee, assault and battery; appeal from Police Justice, Honolulu. Mr. Russell for defendant appellant.

Rex vs Arsenio Joie, selling liquor without license; appeal from Police Court. Mr. John Russell for defendant appellant.

CIVIL CASES.

W. H. Holmes vs Ah Hong, assumpsit. Mr. W. A. Kinney for plaintiff.

Wm. Lidgate et al vs R. R. Hind, covenant. Mr. E. Preston for plaintiff. Mr. F. M. Hatch for defendant.

Bishop & Co. vs C. Bolte et al, assumpsit. Mr. E. Preston for plaintiffs. Mr. A. L. Hartwell for defendants.

A. Kina vs W. C. Parke, trespass. Mr. W. R. Castle for plaintiff. Messrs. Cecil Brown and F. M. Hatch for defendant.

Allen & Robinson vs Ah Len et al, assumpsit. Mr. F. M. Hatch for plaintiff.

G. W. Macfarlane & Co. vs Grinbaum & Co., assumpsit. Mr. F. M. Hatch for plaintiffs. Mr. A. S. Hartwell for defendants.

Akiona vs Kohala Sugar Co., case. Mr. A. S. Hartwell for plaintiff.

Ah Chu vs Sing Kwong, We & Co., case. Mr. A. S. Hartwell for plaintiff. Mr. John Russell for defendant.

Chung Wa vs Sun Wo Company, assumpsit. Appeal from Police Court, Honolulu. Mr. Hatch for plaintiff. Mr. Castle for defendant.

BANCO CASES.

Nawahine vs J. A. Kaili, divorce. Appeal from July term. Mr. Kalaaukane for plaintiff. Mr. W. A. Kinney for defendant.

M de Gonveia vs L. Loka, exceptions. Mr. Cecil Brown for plaintiff. Mr. Kaulukou for defendant.

J. T. Waterhouse vs John D. Spreckels et al, appeal on demurrer from July Term Supreme Court. Messrs. Preston & Hartwell for plaintiffs, respondent. Messrs. Paul Neumann and F. M. Hatch for defendants.

Bishop & Co. vs Commissioners of Crown Lands, exceptions from July Term Supreme Court. Messrs. Hartwell & W. R. Austin for plaintiffs. The Attorney-General for defendants.

A. G. Ellis vs G. N. Wilcox, exceptions from July Term Supreme Court. Mr. F. M. Hatch for plaintiff. Mr. Hartwell for defendant.

Un Wong vs Kung Chi et al, exceptions from July Term Supreme Court. Mr. Kinney for plaintiff, respondent. Messrs. Hartwell and W. R. Austin for defendant, appellant.

Kaanaana et al vs J. L. Richardson. Appeal from Water Commissioners of Ewa and Waianae. Mr. C. Preston for defendant appellant.

Board of immigration vs Benito Texeira da Estrella. Appeal from Third Circuit.

W. C. Peacock vs J. H. Lovejoy, writ of error. Mr. Hatch for plaintiff. Mr. Preston for defendant.

DIVORCES.

J. M. Daigle vs Panaewa Daigle. Mr. J. L. Kaulukou for plaintiff.

Maria Kamohai vs Alina. Mr. Holokahiki for plaintiff.

Aaiki vs Kaliula. Mr. Holokahiki for plaintiff.

Frank Enos vs Maria Puaala. M. Kalua for plaintiff.

Kaehu vs Ana Wehelani. Mr. Holokahiki for plaintiff.

James Wright vs Kahana Wright. Mr. Poepeo for plaintiff.

Intermediary Court.

CHIEF-JUSTICE JUDD ON THE BENCH.

THURSDAY, Sept. 25, 1884.

Mr. Austin Whiting, Deputy Attorney-General appeared for the Crown.

Rex vs Alai, assault. From Koolauloa. Mr. W. R. Castle for defendant. Prisoner acquitted.

Rex vs Pampalo, assault and battery on Captain Cluney on the 6th instant. Mr. Kawelo for defendant. Continued until 3rd October.

Rex vs Aukai, disorderly conduct. Continued to 3rd October.

Rex vs Aki et al, opium possession. Mr. W. A. Kinney for defendant. Continued to 3rd October.

Matthias Gray vs Lycan & Co., assumpsit. Continued to October unless sooner called.

C. J. Hardee vs J. H. Redward, assumpsit. Mr. Dole for plaintiff, and Mr. John Russell for defendant. Appeal withdrawn.

Kaahola et al vs Kaholemauna, assumpsit. Mr. J. L. Kaulukou for plaintiff. Judgment for plaintiff for $70 and costs.

THE VALUE OF ABUSE.

Here is a story which illustrates a tendency of human nature which many a public man has found the advantage of. At the recent dinner of the British Chamber of Commerce in Paris there was much laughter when M. de Lesseps mentioned that on his first visit to England the publisher who brought out the report of his meetings charged, as the first item of his bill, "£50 for attacking the book in order to make it succeed." "Since then," observed M. de Lesseps, "I have been attacked gratuitously, and have got on without paying."

Isn't it about time that a society was organized for the prevention of cruelty to inanimate things? Just think of the torture which a potato must undergo in this hot weather in being served with its jacket on.

A farmer near Helena, Ark., was recently stung to death by buffalo gnats. It was a painful death to die, but it was better than attending the Chicago Convention and being eaten by bedbugs.

BY-WAYS OF HONOLULU.

NO. II.

There are a few old buildings in Puukole that were once houses of old residents, with abundance of space and air about them. Such as, for instance, the old "Thrum" premises fronting on King street near the bridge. Time was when this old building was a pleasant, comfortable dwelling, replete with all old-fashioned appliances for comfort, and surrounded by an equally old-fashioned air of quiet tranquility that rendered it one of the most comfortable and home-like houses in town. Now it's time worn front is squeezed in between ill-fitting additions run up on either side; its quaint porch filled with Chinese inscriptions and gaudy ornaments. Where the mystic horse-shoe once guarded the front door, uncouth characters red and gold warn away evil influences—perhaps. The old hall is but little changed, the doors on either side still retaining their ancient color and numbering; but every room has had a partition run across it; and in each little subdivision is crowded with the narrow sleeping platforms (one can scarcely call them "beds") where the Pake takes his rest behind the dense mosquito curtain they so much affect. Up stairs new corridors have been built, off which other rooms open, and one large room is set apart as a prayer room or Joss Temple. Up and down the dingy stairs, along the corridors, and in and out the rooms move an ever changing crowd of boarders. They have huge chests, the boards of which—an inch and a half thick—are dove-tailed together strongly. The massive cover is held on one side by a pair of strap hinges at least two feet long, and on the other by a stout spring lock, overlaid by a broad hasp fitting over a heavy staple, through which is passed the bolt of a queer looking brass padlock. On the sides, to prevent a crow bar or anything of the kind being forced under the lid, there are strong cleats of wood, and the bottom is defended in the same manner. John hires a room, gets this clumsy treasure box into it, unrolls his sleeping mat, puts up his air-tight mosquito curtain, gets out a bundle of incense sticks, and then hangs on the walls of his room various inscriptions, a photograph or two, and is "at home." His "papers" and keys he carries in a pouch at his waist; his meals he gets at a pork-shop; his work he finds in some one of the many businesses carried on by his countrymen in the neighborhood; his devotions he performs in the prayer-room mentioned already, and his pleasures he finds in the theatre not far off, and in the narrow alleys and secluded dens still closer at hand. He has plenty of friends who keep little fruit and candy stands or coffee-seops, around which are generally to be found girls of doubtful characters, and women of whom there is no doubt at all.

Besides the old dwellings converted into lodging-houses, there are a number of brand-new buildings, all in convenient yards back from the street, built especially for the accommodation of the transient Chinese, and generally filled with them. The general plan of these buildings is the same throughout the town. A long two-story frame house, with a narrow upper veranda, reached by an outside stairway, giving access to small rooms, each having one door and window. Opposite this house is another just like it, and between the two is a narrow court, in which the dwellers on either side meet to chatter gossip, drain water, wash clothes, cook food, smoke, gamble and intrigue. Each one of these caravansaries has its knot of women and children supported in a loose communistic fashion by the occupants of the rooms, with the worst possible results, to the children, at least. There are three things used in common in these courts: The water supply (one tap doing for all), the sanitary arrangements, and the female "help." There is generally to be detected the subtle odor of opium, but rarely the drug itself. One is pretty sure to meet with a victim of the habit, but very seldom is such a one found indulging in it. The Chinaman is eminently secretive, and his appearance is as non-committal as his language. He may be gambling away everything he has in the world,